

Sararas Ektra School

Global Assessment
Certificate™

News

July 2019

Coming Soon

- Religious Holidays
July 16th & 17th
- Mid-Semester Exams
July 22nd - 26th
- Holiday - King's Birthday
July 29th (compensation day)
- Thai Language Day
July 31st

Exams are Coming

⇒ Each one is important, so prepare carefully for them all: remember the reason for doing them.

Kerfuffle is not part of the process, so just knuckle-down and get on with them.

Take the time to have a good breakfast - your brain needs feeding too, so that you can do well.

Remain calm and take each question as it comes - there is enough time if you use it wisely.

At the end of the day, you are responsible for your results.

 Good Luck **

Wai Kru Day

Wai Kru Day is a very special day here in Thailand, and, it is a time for all students to go see their teachers, to thank them and to get some words of encouragement. Each year many ex-students also come back to see their teachers. Every class makes a floral decoration for their two homeroom teachers, and they are then presented on this day - 20th June this year.

Chomphunek, Manassanan and Arisada from Y.11C with their completed floral arrangements.

Ms. Tippaya from GAC '1' was here to give a short speech to all students and teachers. She also related some of her many success stories, which include her teaching at Harvard University, and getting her Masters Degree this year from Goldsmiths in London.

"School Captains" Election

Elections took place on Monday 8th July to choose new school Captains. The photo here shows Patrika, Rinrada, Thanunyapa and Chaiyanich from Y.12A & B who clearly show that Number '1' was the outright sure winner with 33% of the total votes. That means that the "Ektra Guardians" now take charge for the year to oversee and organize numerous events and activities for 2019 / 2020.

